

Army West Point College Prospect Camp

Dates: June 8th (Full Day)

Location: Gillis Fieldhouse, U.S. Military Academy at West Point

Staff: Army West Point Volleyball Coaching Staff

Camp Overview

The Army West Point College Prospect Camp is a unique opportunity for female volleyball players entering 10th grade through 12th grade to train and compete in a collegiate volleyball environment.

Campers will work directly with the Army West Point Volleyball coaching staff, gaining valuable exposure while experiencing what it's like to train as a Division I student-athlete. The camp is designed to be competitive, educational, and fun -- challenging athletes while helping them grow on and off the court.

On-Court Experience

Athletes will take part in a variety of training sessions and competitive play, including:

- Position-specific instruction and feedback
- Skill development in all areas of the game
- College-style drills and team systems
- Small-sided and full-sided competitive games
- Live play situations that allow athletes to showcase their abilities

Enrollment is limited to ensure quality instruction and plenty of reps.

Recruiting & College Insight

In addition to on-court training, campers will learn more about:

- The college volleyball recruiting process
- What college coaches look for in prospective student-athletes
- The standards and expectations of the Army West Point Volleyball program
- Tour of the West Point campus and facilities
- Life as a student-athlete at the U.S. Military Academy

Camp Details

Who Should Attend

This camp is ideal for athletes who:

- Love competing and want to play volleyball at the next level
- Are looking for exposure to the Army West Point coaching staff
- Have high level club experience (Open or National Level)
- Want to learn more about high level collegiate volleyball and the West Point experience

Why West Point Volleyball?

Army West Point Volleyball offers a one-of-a-kind collegiate experience that combines elite Division I competition, world-class education, and leadership development. As a cadet-athlete, you will be challenged to grow as a volleyball player, student, and leader in an environment unlike any other in college athletics.

At West Point, volleyball is about more than wins and losses. Our program is built on:

- Competing at the NCAA Division I level (Army West Point Volleyball is currently ranked 91st out of 348 NCAA D1 programs)
- Developing disciplined, resilient, and team-focused athletes
- Training in a structured, high-performance environment led by experienced coaches
- Pursuing a fully funded, top-tier education at West Point (currently ranked the #3 Public College in the country)
- Preparing for leadership opportunities that extend far beyond the volleyball court

This camp gives prospective student-athletes a chance to experience the culture, expectations, and competitive standards of Army West Point Volleyball while interacting directly with our coaching staff and training in our home facility.
